

J Bar L Ranch Birding Adventure

A two-night stay for up to six people!

Availability: May 20 to October 1, 2019

Minimum Bid: $350

Operating as a holistically managed grass-fed beef ranch, the J-Bar-L goes beyond pasture to plate. We are ranchers stew-arding open landscapes and helping to conserve the fabulous Centennial Valley. The J Bar L offers fully restored luxury rent-al homestead cabins and authentic rental ranch houses as accommodations. Sleeping arrangements and occupancy vary with each facility, and all include a well-equipped kitchen, living area, laundry, and linens. Guests provide all of their food and beverage needs, as the J-Bar-L does not provide meal service, and the remote location does not offer quick access to restaurants or services.

Opportunities abound for mountain biking, hiking, fishing, and wildlife viewing and photography. However, the area's specialty is birding. The Centennial Valley is home to the Red Rocks National Wildlife Refuge, the largest wetland complex in the Greater Yellowstone ecosystem. This re-mote, scenic, bird-rich area hosts hundreds of species of migratory birds, including the trumpeter swan, and 70% of Montana's native avian species. Nearby habitats include vast areas of uplands, grasslands, and forest, home to a marvelous mix of raptors and songbirds, as well as a good population of the threatened greater sage grouse.
